Commemorating its 95th anniversary, the insurer reinforces its role as a vital safety net and wealth partner with new initiatives to fulfill promises across healthcare and long-term financial goals as well as deepen its engagement, contributing meaningfully to the nation's progress.

SINGAPORE, 12 February 2026 — AIA Singapore today announced its 95th Anniversary, standing shoulder-to-shoulder with Singaporeans, building a vital safety net for families and fulfilling its promise by paying out billions in claims over the decades. In the last decade alone, AIA Singapore have paid out more than S$40 billion of death, critical illness, accident, hospitalisation and maturity proceeds for retirement and savings.

“For nearly a century, AIA Singapore has been part of the Singapore story, walking alongside generations of families, consistently delivering on our promise to protect their financial and health needs,” said Wong Sze Keed, Chief Executive Officer of AIA Singapore. “This significant milestone reflects not only the strength of our heritage, but also our continued commitment to innovation, disciplined execution, and long-term sustainable value creation. Over the last 10 years, we paid out more than S$40 billion in claims and maturity proceeds — a testament to our role as a safety net for Singaporeans. To us, these are not just numbers; they represent real families who found stability and reassurance when they needed it most. Above all, this stands as a tribute to our customers and the community who have placed their trust in us throughout our journey. This fund raises support for adopted charities dedicated to helping children and families in need in Singapore, reinforcing our dedication to a healthier, more resilient nation.

In celebration of its 95th Anniversary, AIA Singapore has launched a series of special initiatives and promotions.
